I am writing to express my sincere interest in the Full Stack Developer role at Emerson. With over 1.5 years of experience developing scalable, user-centric web applications using modern technologies like React, Node.js, and MySQL, I bring a strong foundation in both front-end and back-end development and a deep enthusiasm for solving complex technical problems.

At KumarSoft, I have contributed to building and deploying production-grade applications for sectors including education, healthcare, travel, and telecom. My responsibilities involved full-cycle development - from front-end UI with React and Tailwind CSS to API design with Express and MongoDB/MySQL, along with real-time hosting on VPS. What excites me most about Emerson is its focus on innovation and sustainability in technology. I
